Sir/Madam:

This patent application was allowed, and the issue fee payment documents mailed from the USPTO, on September 18, 2006.

We attempted to pay the issue fee on October 4, 2006. However, we authorized payment from our Deposit Account, Dep. Acct. No. 231480, not realizing that the account temporarily lacked sufficient funds for the payment. The Amount Due (publication fee plus issue fee) was $1634.00. The Amount Paid (the balance available in the Deposit Account) was $1624.00. The shortfall was $10.00.

A copy of the Issue Fee Payment documents is included herewith, showing the payment already made and the documentation of the shortfall.

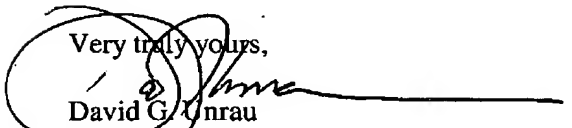

We note that, although the Issue Fee payment documents contain a general authorization for the USPTO to charge the remaining fee from the deposit account, and although the Notice of Fee Due (enclosed herewith) contains instructions to charge the deposit account if there is such an authorization, no such charge was in fact made by the USPTO. We note also that we were not notified of either the shortfall nor of the need to make an additional payment, despite instructions to do so in the Notice of Fee Due. (We had to go into PAIR, and download the documents from there., to find out what had happened.)

We have since fully replenished Dep. Acct. No. 231480. We hereby authorize the USPTO to charge the rest of the required issue fee, plus any other fee or charges required for this patent application, from Dep. Acct. No. 231480.

Thank you for your assistance with this matter.
